Tindall & Foster, P.C. attorneys specializing in consular practice regularly accompany nonimmigrant visa applicants to the U.S. Consulate in Matamoros, Mexico for purposes of visa application. Due to the high demand for new H-1B visa appointments in advance of October 1, 2008, the first day that new H-1B workers may begin work with a Fiscal Year 2009 H-1B Approval Notice, Tindall & Foster will be sponsoring two separate visa application trips in the month of September 2008.

The scope and success of our consular practice, same-day visa issuance rates, and the legal representation our attorneys provide during U.S. immigration inspection and readmission offer our clients peace of mind as well as convenience during what might otherwise be a stressful process.

Visas are ordinarily issued to Tindall & Foster clients on a same-day basis, thus enabling frequent and short-term travelers a more convenient option for obtaining a new or "renewed" nonimmigrant visa in advance of overseas travel. An experienced immigration attorney will screen each applicant's qualifications, thoroughly review each applicant's immigration history, prepare the necessary documents for visa application, conduct one-on-one attorney-client interviews with each applicant in preparation for the visa interview, and provide legal representation before U.S. Customs & Border Protection during the immigration inspection and readmission process.

In preparation for Tindall & Foster-sponsored consular practice trips, our consular specialist support staff coordinates client travel arrangements and secures on behalf of each applicant the necessary Mexican visas to permit qualified applicants to enter Mexico for the purpose of visa application at the U.S. Consulate.
